

EU Support to the Erasmus+ Student and Alumni networks: Overview of EOI Submissions

Introduction

The Erasmus+ Support Programme – facilitating alumni activities

The Erasmus+ Support Programme provides operational support to four Erasmus+ student and alumni networks: EMA, OCEANS, ESN, garagErasmus, and two regional platforms, ASAF, and WBAA. The programme helps network members organise local, community-based activities which have:

- A central aim of promoting and informing the participants about the opportunities offered by Erasmus+, to reach out to and inspire potentially new participants to the programme.
- A local, community-based focus, enabling local members to engage with young people in their own communities and networks.

A range of different activities can be supported including opportunities for networking and professional development, promoting European Union programmes to wider audiences, sharing personal Erasmus+ experiences to encourage engagement, initiating grassroots activities to benefit their local communities, and providing mentoring to guide and inspire future Erasmus+ participants.

Activities must be supported by network boards and take place in eligible countries. Support is allocated strategically across regions, with 40% directed to EU Member States and associated countries, 20% to Sub-Saharan Africa, and smaller amounts to other global regions such as Western Balkans, South Mediterranean, Asia, Latin America, and North America.

Cross-network collaboration is also encouraged, and the activities can be carried out in collaboration with the EU Delegations (EUDs), Erasmus+ National Focal Points (ENFPs) and other relevant EU and national/local stakeholders, helping to increase the activities' impact and reach.

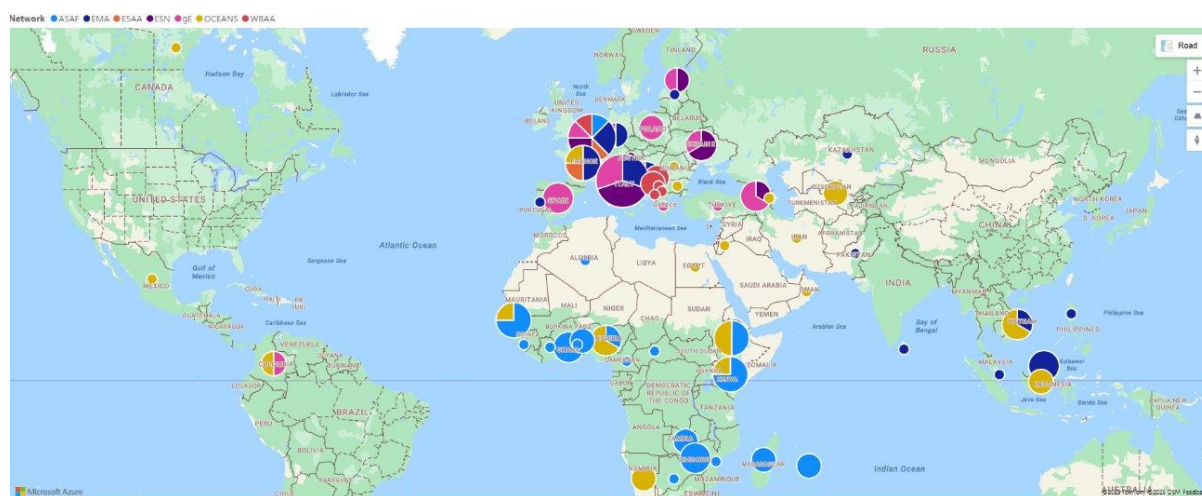

Overview of 2025 activities

In 2025, Erasmus+ alumni members, volunteered their time and skills to organise 100 activities reaching over 6,000 participants in their local communities and countries. The Activities had a strong focus on engagement of alumni, motivating future Erasmus+ participants and positively impact their communities.

The activities supported encompassed a broad spectrum, including networking and professional development sessions, events and workshops to raise awareness about European Union programmes to wider audiences, opportunities to share personal Erasmus+ experiences and motivate others, grassroots initiatives encompassing volunteering and local community outreach, and mentoring to guide and inspire prospective Erasmus+ participants.

The activities took place across a diverse geography (see map below), with 36% of activities taking place in EU Member States and associated countries, 32% in Sub-Saharan Africa, 10% in Asia and the remainder distributed among regions such as the Western Balkans, South Mediterranean, Latin America, and North America.

Activities implemented by Country and Network

The EOI Submission and assessment process

EU Support for these Alumni-led activities was accessed by Network members through the submission of an Expression of Interest (EOI) form to their respective Boards. These were then shortlisted by the Boards and submitted to the ESS team for assessment of strategic fit with the Support Programme objectives.

There were three deadlines for EOI in January, March and September 2025. In addition, a small number of individual activities were approved on a case-by-case basis by the Erasmus+ Support Services Team and EACEA during the year to support attendance at select Commission and alumni events.

Review panel process

Following the conclusion of each assessment round, the ESS Team prepares an assessment recommendations list identifying the EOIs recommended for support.

The ESAA Liaison Group and EACEA form a review panel to discuss the EOIs and make the final decisions on the activities to be supported. Activities are then formally approved by the Head of unit at EACEA.

Visibility of Alumni-led activities

This document provides a comprehensive overview of the alumni-led activities supported in 2025 and accompanies the list of approved activities published on the ESAA website. Each EOI is assigned a unique submission number and is presented in numerical order of submission for ease of reference.

We have noticed on the Community Portal that the Senegalese community is not strongly represented within OCEANS. We intend to invite as many students as possible, from the remotest parts of Senegal, as well as the disabled, to respect the principle of inclusion. Because the Erasmus+ program should not be seen as a luxury that can only be afforded by the elite who live in the city, but all students with the required skills should have access to information to benefit from these scholarships. Expected results: Students will be better informed about how to apply for Erasmus+ placements Former scholarship holders will be able to talk about how they managed their mobility and return home Create a framework for exchanges between our partners, students and alumni networks More OCEANS members in Senegal.

Activity title: Erasmus+ Success Clinic		Network: EMA	Start/ end date of activity: 01/11/2025 – 19/12/2025
Action type: 3.2.3 Activities to share Erasmus+ experiences	Country: Sri Lanka	Region: Asia	Number of Participants: 50
Summary of activity: Sri Lanka produces a high number of graduates in both STEM fields and the Humanities and Social Sciences (HSS), yet specialization beyond undergraduate degrees remains minimal. A significant gap in awareness exists regarding international opportunities, particularly EMJMD. Lack of awareness challenges talent acquisition and retention, hindering Sri Lanka's long-term development. Without global exposure and specialization, Sri Lanka misses' opportunity to harness its full intellectual potential, while EU loses out on diverse candidates who could contribute to research and innovation. This initiative addresses this gap by conducting one-day Erasmus+ awareness and preparatory workshops at state universities across Sri Lanka. Workshops will equip students from both STEM and HSS with knowledge to navigate Erasmus+ scholarships, application processes, and career opportunities in EU. Empowering students ensures Sri Lanka does not lose valuable talent due to lack of specialization, enhancing global career prospects. Erasmus+ student mobility strengthens Sri Lanka's human capital, developing professionals with global perspectives, advanced skills, and international networks that contribute to national development. EU also benefits from increased participation, fostering stronger academic collaboration and cultural exchange, which enhances EU's global position. Expected outcomes include higher Erasmus+ application rates, stronger university-level networks, and a more informed, globally aware student body. By establishing a sustainable mentorship model, this initiative guarantees long-term impact, fostering mutual growth, deepening Sri Lanka-EU educational ties. KPIs to track effectiveness: ~450 students across 9 workshops, ≥50% preparing Erasmus+ applications. 20+ alumni will provide 150+ mentoring hours. Universities receive resource packs and a student ambassador. Mentorship network and digital platform ensure sustained impact on applications and alumni–student engagement.

Activity title: Geomundus Conference		Network: EMA	Start/ end date of activity: 01/11/2025 – 31/12/2025
Action type: 3.2.2 Supporting grassroots initiatives in local communities	Country: Portugal	Region: Erasmus+ EU Member States and third countries associated to the Programme	Number of Participants: 50
Summary of activity: This initiative is designed to bring Erasmus Mundus students and the Lisbon community together through a shared experience of mapping and storytelling. Our goal is to create a space where local students, NGOs, residents, and internationals can discover how geospatial technologies can help address real challenges in their city, from sustainability to inclusivity. We aim to involve around 40–50 community participants in a hands-on workshop on “Mapping Smart and Inclusive Lisbon,” guided by Erasmus Mundus students who will act as mentors and facilitators. Alongside this, we will run a special community category in the “Smart Lisbon Cartographic Challenge,” inviting locals to submit maps that reflect their own perspectives on the city. We expect to gather at least 20 of these community-driven maps and showcase them at the GeoMundus conference in Lisbon, turning local voices into part of a larger international conversation. After the event, all maps and stories will be compiled into an open-access digital portfolio, reaching at least 200 viewers online. Anticipated KPIs to evaluate the success of the conference include participant satisfaction levels measured through post-event surveys, digital portfolio reach and engagement (views, shares, interactions), and the number of organisations actively collaborating in the conference. By the end, we hope participants leave with new skills, stronger connections, and a sense of pride in how their contributions can shape a smarter, more inclusive Lisbon, while Erasmus students gain valuable experience in giving back to their host community.
